CSL Appoints New Human Resources Executive

New Executive Vice President will support CSL's business and people strategies with a focus on talent management and employee engagement

Hong Kong – 4 November 2010 – CSL Limited (CSL) announced global veteran human resources practitioner Rita Chan as Executive Vice President of Human Resources. Chan will support CSL's business and people strategies with a focus on talent management and employee engagement.

“Rita is a seasoned HR professional, who is strategic and result-oriented,” said Joseph O’Konek, Chief Executive Officer of CSL. “She brings expertise to CSL in all facets of HR, including organization development, staffing and recruitment, talent development, employee engagement and loyalty. Rita’s appointment will help us to further align HR strategies and initiatives to support CSL’s business objectives and people strategies, along with demonstrating our commitment to making CSL a workplace where people can reach their full potential and experience the most rewarding careers possible.”

Rita has over 21 years of human resources experience with prestigious US multinationals McDonald's and Starbucks; Hong Kong companies such as the Kowloon-Canton Railway Corporation (KCRC) and Hong Kong Aircraft Engineering Company Limited; and European-based groups including Inchcape and Standard Chartered Bank.

Rita holds a bachelor’s degree in Economics from the University of Western Ontario in Canada and a diploma in Training Management from the Institute of Training and Development in United Kingdom.
